July 11, 2017 – Altice USA through its Altice Connects community initiative was the presenting sponsor of the Altice/Suddenlink “STEAM” Expo at the Truckee Tahoe Air Show & Family Festival, one of the largest, most attended events in the Truckee/Tahoe (CA) area. The event, which was free to all and featured a spectacular aeronautics show, gave youth and adults alike a fun and interactive opportunity to explore the various Expo exhibitors as they demonstrated the wonders of science, technology, engineering, art, and mathematics (“STEAM”). Altice USA, one of the largest broadband communications and video services providers in the United States, delivers Suddenlink-branded services in the Truckee/Tahoe area.

In addition, students from the Tahoe-Truckee Unified School District were invited to participate in an Altice/Suddenlink “STEAM” essay contest. This new Festival feature, designed to attract more local students to the Expo and increase STEAM awareness, challenged students, grades 6-12, to submit an essay describing how STEAM has impacted their personal learning growth, and what they would like to do with STEAM knowledge in their future. The winner, Truckee High School Senior Leivy Brizeth Castellanos Islas, was presented with a prize for her submission during a ceremony at the Expo.

Lee Schroeder, senior vice president, government and community affairs of Altice USA, said “As a technology company, Altice USA is committed to demonstrating to our future leaders the real-world application of STEAM. We are honored to partner with the Truckee Tahoe Air Show and Family Festival who share this commitment by providing children and families with a full day of free, interactive STEAM experiences. We also congratulate Leivy as the winner of the essay contest and wish her continued success in her pursuit of a STEAM-related career.”
