

Altice USA, Smithsonian Channel & Medgar Evers College Host Private Screening of Black History Month Special

On Tuesday, February 28, Altice USA, Smithsonian Channel and Medgar Evers College partnered to present a private screening of "The Obama Years: The Power of Words", a look back at President Obama's legacy as a world-class orator and "writer in chief". The special took viewers inside the defining moments of Obama's political career through the prism of his most memorable speeches.
